Dear Year Three Parents.

Many of you will have already heard that heart breaking news that Freya's Mum, Ceri, died this week.

Freya's Dad, Matt, has shared that:

It is with the heaviest of hearts that we share that Ceri passed away earlier this week.

We are completely heartbroken. She was a devoted wife, an incredible mum to Mason and Freya, and the centre of our world. The loss we feel is beyond words.

Thank you for the love and support so many of you have already shown it means so much. Please keep Ceri in your thoughts and remember the warmth and light she brought into our lives.

Funereal details will follow in due course.

She will be loved and missed forever.

Freya, and her family, will be at the centre of how we respond to this as a school. We will be led by them and their wishes. Once I have spoken with Matt and Freya, I will share more with you.

If you feel you want or need to speak to your child about this, there is some very useful advice on the Child Bereavement UK website Explaining death and dying to children | Child Bereavement UK

This may stir up some feelings for your child about their own experiences of death, illness and loss. Please speak to Miss Claughan or myself if your child has been or may be particularly affected.

For now, we will limit what we share with the children in school and use the advice from Child Bereavement UK ourselves when we are responding to any questions or comments the children may raise in school.

If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to contact me by popping in, calling school or emailing.

Cofion Cynnes,

Mrs. Wadsworth
